

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An information terminal includes a history management section for recording history information about communication; an information management table for recording history related information indicating a processing state of the history information; and an information history list display section for displaying the history information in connection with the processing state of the history information in accordance with the history related information.

RECORDED IN U.S. PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE
BY RICHARD G. COOPER